Marlpool weekly News 2.5.25

This week

This week Class 1 have thoroughly enjoyed learning about the traditional Victorian poem 'The Owl and the Pussycat' by Edward Lear. They were amazing at explaining what they thought the poem was about, picking out lots of details and identifying any new/unfamiliar vocabulary. They also found all the rhyming words and then Year 1 children even had a go at changing words in the first verse to create their own version of the 'nonsense' poem. Ask them if they can remember how theirs went.

Class 2 have concluded their non - fiction writing on Queen Victoria and we are all very proud of the booklets they have produced.

In History we have been using sources such photographs to find out what a classroom was like in the 1900s.

In Science, Reception children loved their exploration of sound this week. One of the questions they investigated was 'What happens to sound when it's under water?' They made some fantastic observations and gave brilliant explanations!

Year 1 children used the super science skill of 'enquiry' to research facts about five different types of birds using the RSPB website.

Dress up Days

We have lots of fun events coming up in school for the children; including VE day and our Victorian day to celebrate the end of our topic. Thursday 8th May we welcome children to join us in celebrating 80 years since VE day by wearing red white and blue. During the day children will learn about VE day why it is an important part of British History.

Next week (6.5.25)

In class 1, we will be looking at "The children's garden of verses" by Robert Louis Stevenson and class 2 will be developing their interpreting and answering skills with questions through reading. In Maths, Reception are looking at patterns in the environment and repeating patterns, Year 1 will conclude their learning about multiplication and division before moving on to fractions and Year 2 will be continuing with Fractions.
